WONDERGLASS

“Church architecture,” says John Pawson, “has been a real source of fantastic art throughout the centuries. Light and candles are a big part of its decorative expression.” Pendant Tube was created for large spaces, drawing its inspiration from churches and, particularly, the divine atmosphere created within these sacred structures. The design clearly visualises the artist’s philosophy and, while being minimal and unobtrusive in its appearance during the day, greatly impacts the ambience of larger spaces during the night.
